RESIGNATION OF OPA CHIEF HINTED SOON

Only Final Okay From Truman Necessary to Strip Away Ceilings Excepting Sugar and Rents

WILL COME ANY TIME

Washington, Nov. 8.—(P)—The administration is getting ready to junk virtually all remaining price and wage controls—and it was learned today that OPA Chief Paul Porter plans to resign.

Only a final okay from President Truman was reported necessary to strip away all remaining price ceilings except those on rents, sugar, syrup and rice. Many other wartime controls such as those on wages are expected to disappear at the same time.

Friends of Porter said he hopes the White House decision "would come quickly."

They added that as soon as it is announced Porter will go to the White House for a private talk with President Truman and offer his resignation.

Porter was drafted from the chairmanship of the Federal Communications Commission early in the war to serve in a number of key agencies. He took over the OPA when former administrator Chester Bowles resigned last June.

Friends of Porter said he had been pressing for a clarification of White House policy on remaining price lids ever since President Truman yanked the ceiling from meats and livestock on Oct. 14.

One high government official told a reporter that Mr. Truman will make a final ruling in a day or so and probably announce it next week.

He told a reporter that President Truman will make a final ruling in a day or so and probably announce it next week.

The consensus among agency officials who have been conferring the last two weeks with reconversion Director John R. Steelman is that the time has come to junk nearly all of the control program, except for rents and sugar.

There is some opposition to this, notably on the part of Housing Administrator Wilson W. Wyatt, but he and others who have favored a go-slow policy reportedly are prepared for a decision in the other direction.

What to do about price ceiling on building materials has been one of the problems delaying the announcement of OPA's master decontrol list. Wyatt, as one official put it, is "very much worried" that elimination of ceilings in this field might make it necessary to abandon the present $10,000 price lid on new homes for veterans.

Mr. Truman will have the final say on this matter. His decision also is tied up with the question whether controls are to be maintained on such basic commodities as coal, rubber, steel, and other metals.

Officials inclined toward freeing these items are agreed that such a move would foreclose the possibility of keeping the lid on building materials.

Divorce Action Ends With Payoff Punch

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 8.—(P)—The dignity of the Champaign county circuit court was momentarily upset at the conclusion of a divorce trial.

C. E. Tate, attorney for the wife seeking a divorce, had concluded arguments and Judge Grover W. Watson began to prepare the decree.

In a gentle voice the wife called her estranged husband to her side. Suddenly she administered a sound punch, remarking "that's one I've owed you a long time."

Radio Artists Threaten To Go On Strike

Hollywood, Nov. 8.—(P)—The Hollywood chapter, which includes some of radio's biggest names, unanimously authorized the national board of the American Federation of Radio Artists last night to call a strike unless four major networks agree to new contracts.

Negotiations among the AFL union and the networks broke down in New York last week.

A few stars of the big name shows were in attendance, among them Jack Benny, Jack Haley and Penny Singleton. National President Ken Carpenter, Local President Carlton Kadell and Executive Secretary Claude McCue were the chief speakers, outlining at considerable length AFRA's objectives, while some 2000 of the federation's 3000 members here listened.

In general, McCue said, the membership is seeking a 35 per cent wage increase. He pointed out that AFRA abided by a non-strike clause throughout the war.

Although there are scores of categories, typical present scales include, for an hour's show: Actors $49.61, free lance announcers and newscasters, $24.81 for a half hour show; Actors $37.51, for a quarter hour broadcast; newscasters $14.92.

In addition, AFRA asks the networks to refuse to channel programs to non-network-owned stations which refuse to deal with AFRA. Management contends, McCue declared, that this would put the networks in the position of bargaining for the union.

Most of the larger networks shows, such as the half-hour comedy and variety programs, would not be affected. Their actors and crew are under contract to an agency, generally at higher than AFRA scales.

Similar union votes are scheduled among locals in New York, Chicago and San Francisco shortly.

Sister of Senator Guffey Succumbs

Washington, Nov. 8.—(P)—Paula Guffey, sister of Senator Joseph P. Guffey (D-Pa.) died of heart disease today at her home here.

Guffey first disclosed his sister's illness Tuesday when he returned to Washington immediately after casting his vote in Pittsburgh.

Miss Paula Guffey and another sister, Miss Ida V. Guffey, had lived in Washington with the senator since he first was elected in 1934. The senator, a bachelor, was defeated in Tuesday's election.

A third sister of the senator, Mrs. Carroll Miller, of Shippery Rock, Pa., also has spent much time here.

Private funeral services will be held in Washington Saturday. Burial will be in West Newton, Pa.

HOPES BRIGHTEN FOR HOTEL STRIKE'S END

Pittsburgh, Nov. 8.—(P)—Settlement hopes in the strike of some 2,000 employees against eight large hotels here brightened today after leaders of the AFL-Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union asked that wage contract negotiations be renewed.

The Pittsburgh Hotels Association, representing the closed hostilities, previously had said it would meet with the union at any time. The negotiations have been deadlocked for days.

G.O.P. Promises Would Scrap Over 520 War Regulations

Washington, Nov. 8.—(P)—More than 520 pieces of wartime legislation would be tossed out the window by the promised Republican move to end President Truman's emergency powers.

But high Democratic officials voiced skepticism today that the new GOP-controlled congress would take that step, despite the election forecast of Rep. Clarence Brown, Republican national campaign director.

These officials also cast doubt on whether the whole thing could be accomplished that simply. They contend that the expiration of most—but not all—of the war powers depends variously on:

1. The termination of the war.
2. The termination of hostilities.
3. The termination of the emergency.

And none has yet been declared officially at an end.

Truman Deaf to Demands That Chairman Hannegan Be Fired

Washington, Nov. 8.—(P)—Scattered Democratic demands that National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan be fired from the party helm and the cabinet reportedly found President Truman cold today toward any major changes in his official family.

While there are indications that some shifts may be made soon in his personal White House staff, the president is said to be standing behind Hannegan despite the searing defeat in Tuesday's congressional elections.

There has been talk on Capitol Hill that for reasons of health, Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, may soon ask to be relieved of his duties. It was emphasized, however, that if any such change is made, it will have nothing to do with the election results.

But as a direct result of the Democratic-to-Republican shift in congressional control, Senate Secretary Leslie L. Biffle is expected by some friends to transfer his activities from Capitol Hill to the White House staff after the first of the year.

The senate elects its own secretary at the beginning of each new congress, and Biffle, an Arkansas Democrat and close friend of Mr. Truman, appeared unlikely to survive a Republican drive for the office despite his personal popularity.

In line for the post is Carl A. Loeffler, veteran legislative employee who began as a page boy and has served for years as secretary of the Republican minority.

Hannegan went to the hospital here yesterday for a physical checkup. Hence there was no immediate reaction from him to an assertion by Rep. Roger C. Slaughter (D-Mo.) that Mr. Truman ought to dismiss his old friend and political ally from his job as postmaster general.

Slaughter, defeated in the primary after Mr. Truman had endorsed his Democratic opponent, Enos A. Axtell, asserted in a statement at Kansas City that Hannegan was to blame for the party's defeat Tuesday and ought to resign as national chairman and Missouri national committee man.

Little News About Meeting Of the Cabinet

Washington, Nov. 8.—(P)—President Truman conferred with his cabinet for 30 minutes today but those present differed sharply on whether the Republican election victories were discussed.

Reporters questioning individual cabinet members as they left the White House got these answers: Secretary of War Patterson: Tuesday's election results, which gave the Republicans control of congress, were discussed "only in a very general way."

Attorney General Clark, last to leave: There was no discussion of the election.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson smilingly said he told the president there had been a Democratic trend in his home state of New Mexico. But he disclaimed knowledge of any general discussion of Tuesday's balloting.

As the regular weekly cabinet meeting convened, President Truman was confronted with the problem of running a government in which the political opposition makes the rules and holds the purse strings.

The new secretary of commerce, W. Averell Harriman, bridled when one reporter asked him if there were any cabinet resignations at the meeting.

"That's such an absurd question," he said, "I won't answer it."

BUSINESS INDEX IN DISTRICT CLIMBING

Pittsburgh, Nov. 8.—(P)—The University of Pittsburgh reports that increases in industrial production and gains in freight shipments advanced the Pittsburgh district's business index last week to a level nearly equal to that of before the power strike.

The University's Bureau of Business Research said the business index was 196.3 percent of the 1935-39 average. Steel mills operated at more than 98 percent of capacity and a slight gain was noted in trade volume.

Pastors Ask Steubenville Investigation

Steubenville, O., Nov. 8.—(P)—A dozen Protestant pastors who seek authority to "smash the vice centers" in this Ohio river city of 40,000 today decided to appeal to Gov. Frank J. Lausche for an investigation of conditions after city council delayed action on their request for special police powers.

The ministers want to know who owns the building where, they contend, gambling, slot machines, organized vice and policy rackets operate openly. Dr. Norman E. Nygard, their spokesman said.

Their decision to appeal to Gov. Lausche followed the appearance of eight of the ministers before city council meeting in special session last night to consider the group's request for police power to raid establishments.

The pastors petitioned the council after a cafe shooting in which a bystander was wounded. City Council referred the question to Mayor George W. Floto. Safety Director Alfred Schafer, City Solicitor William J. Weinman and Council's safety committee after the ministers agreed to operate as a "sledge vice patrol" under the safety director.

Pastors' demands were made after Bernard Clarke, Jr., 32-year-old Cleveland Heights war hero, was killed Oct. 20 while watching a dice game that ended in a shooting fray. He was wounded fatally by a stray bullet.

Yesterday, Raymond Brewer, owner of the Silver Slipper cafe where Clark was killed, changed his plea to guilty on a charge of operating a gambling game. Common Pleas Judge Arthur L. Hooper sentenced him to 60 days in jail, fined him $200 and placed him on probation a year.

Senatorial Race In Maryland Is Close

Baltimore, Nov. 8.—(P)—Governor Herbert R. O'Connor's paper-thin margin over Republican D. John Markey in the Maryland senatorial contest, the state's closest since 1918, stood at a slim 3,506 today with five precincts still to be heard from.

On the basis of an official canvass of 15 of the state's 23 counties, plus unofficial returns from the remainder, O'Connor, the Democratic candidate, had 236,500 against Markey's 234,994.

The Baltimore Sun, meanwhile, reiterated that O'Connor was elected, pointing out that he stood to gain some 200 votes from disputed returns in Baltimore's sixth ward, where the board of election supervisors has ordered an investigation into what it called an apparent discrepancy between the number of voters and the number of ballot casts.

Markey's headquarters stuck to an earlier statement that final official returns would see their candidate elected by 500 or more votes. They also pressed inquiries into stories that two persons had been allowed to vote under the same name in several instances.

TWO HUNTERS KILLED THUS FAR IN SEASON

Harrisburg, Nov. 8.—(P)—Two hunters have been killed in Pennsylvania and five others have died as a result of heart attacks since the last game season opened last Friday.

Seth Gordon, executive director of the state game commission, said a record number of hunters entered the woodlands during the first two days but the daily average has since dropped off sharply.

The bag of rabbits and squirrels has been higher than last year, he reported, but the kill of pheasants has been lower.

Krug Back in Washington To Take Over Coal Negotiations

MAY REOPEN QUESTION OF MEMBERSHIPS

U. S. Delegation Decides To Throw Weight Behind Plan To Admit Five Countries

STILL DISCUSSING VETO

Lake Success, N. Y., Nov. 8.—(P)—The United States delegation decided today to throw its weight behind a proposal asking the United Nations Security Council to reconsider the five countries rejected for U. N. membership and to oppose "coercive action" against Franco Spain in the assembly.

There was no immediate indication what the United States position would be should the Council reopen the membership question, but on the basis of past arguments it was believed American Delegate Herschel V. Johnson would call for the blanket entry of all five, including Soviet-sponsored Albania and Outer Mongolia.

On the Spanish question the United States delegation merely decided to adhere to its stand for condemnation of the Madrid government but in opposition to any action such as worldwide break in relations.

Members of the United States delegation meanwhile were reported still working on a proposal concerning the much-debated question of the veto, but no concrete plan was anticipated before next week.

Johnson originally asked for severance of diplomatic relations with the Franco government and White Russia followed this yesterday with a demand that the membership institute economic sanctions against Madrid, including the suspension of communications by rail, sea, air, post and telegraph.

The assembly's political committee now has before it a proposal calling for the Security Council to reconsider the rejected members and the issue will go to full debate before the assembly itself.

Afghanistan, Iceland and Sweden have been approved and are expected to be formally admitted tomorrow.

Johnson's take-it-or-leave-it stand adopted by the United States in presenting its Pacific island trusteeship plan offered strong evidence today of this nation's determination to pursue its policy of patient firmness with Russia within the United Nations Councils.

John Foster Dulles, a United States alternate delegate to the U. N. Assembly, made this apparent. He said new members that rejection of the American proposal would mean that this country, as the conquering and occupying power, would remain installed in the former mandated islands it wrested from the Japanese—at least until a final Pacific peace pact has been approved.

Significantly, Dulles made his statement only a short time after the United States Secretary of State Byrnes, in New York for the Foreign Ministers' Council which resumes its deliberations today with the touchy problem of Trieste high on the agenda.

Liquor Board Will Release Holiday Cheer

Harrisburg, Nov. 8.—(P)—Pennsylvania's state liquor store customers were assured today of extra liquor for the Christmas holidays as the Liquor Control Board arranged to prime more than 100,000 cases of whiskey on the ration-free list "some time later in November."

The board also announced the purchase from the government of 72,000 quarts of pro-war bourbon and rye whiskey that will be distributed under the present rationing plan "at a reasonable price" as soon as it can be rebottled into fifths.

Special sales day for Scotch and Canadian whiskey was set for Thursday, Nov. 14, at which time the board will offer on a first-come, first-served basis 3,500 cases of Scotch, and 10,000 cases of Canadian whiskey.

The 100,000 cases of whiskey slated to be sold ration-free is stock being sold now in state stores under the ration plan. Many popular brands are included.

The whiskey purchased from the government was originally acquired by the army and navy for medicinal purposes and when rebottled will provide 90,000 fifths, of 66 proof, that will serve to replace the brands being taken off the ration list.

The board, in noting its desire "to end rationing as soon as the general supply of whiskey warrants" said that Scotch, Canadian and bottled-in-bond whiskey will continue to be scarce "for a long time."

West Virginia Vote May Be Contested

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 8.—(P)—A Democratic spokesman said today Republican charges of fraud in Tuesday's senatorial election were the opening wedge in an attempt to deny Sen. Harley M. Kilgore (D-W. Va.) his seat by illegitimate action.

Republican National Committee man Walter S. Hallinan and Logan county GOP Chairman Jay Ferguson made charges yesterday that armed deputies patrolled polling places and that Republican ballots were destroyed.

Logan County Prosecutor Chauncey Browning denounced the charges.

Republicans have refused to concede the defeat of their candidate Thomas E. Sweeney of Wheeling, saying they would await the result of the official canvass starting next Tuesday.

REDSTONE TOWNSHIP TEACHERS END STRIKE

Uniontown, Nov. 8.—(P)—Redstone township's striking school teachers arranged to take up their classroom tasks again today, ending a work stoppage of nearly a month which they called to support demands for $400 annual salary increases.

The instructors voted late yesterday to return after school board officials agreed to some immediate salary adjustments and a $400 pay boost in the 1947 budget.

But the striking instructors served notice they would leave on another work stoppage if the provisions of the return-to-work agreement were violated.

MRS. ROOSEVELT HAS HEARING POSTPONED

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 8.—A hearing on whether Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's driving license should be suspended or revoked because of an auto accident last Aug. 14 has been inadvertently postponed, the state motor vehicle bureau indicated today.

The accident in which she was involved occurred in Yonkers where, she told police, she dozed off at the wheel of her auto and her car collided with another. Five persons, including Mrs. Roosevelt, were hurt, none seriously.

TRAILER FOUND BUT LIQUOR CARGO GONE

Camden, N. J., Nov. 8.—(P)—The Boyce Motor Company's missing trailer was back in the hands of its owner today but minus $28,000 liquor cargo it carried when it disappeared from a parking lot.

Police recovered the trailer here yesterday several hours after it was stolen from a Philadelphia parking lot. Most of the other merchandise aboard the trailer was recovered.

MINE PARLEY WILL RESUME NEXT MONDAY

Secretary of Interior Sends Word To Lewis He Will Attend Confer. once

STRATEGY IS UNCERTAIN

Washington, Nov. 8.—(P)—Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug returned today to take over soft coal negotiations with John L. Lewis, less than two weeks before the miners' deadline for a threatened new shutdown.

Krug, who has been on a western trip, attended today's cabinet meeting, but there were conflicting reports as to whether the coal problem had been discussed.

The interior secretary entered and left the White House by a side door while reporters were questioning other cabinet members.

Secretary of War Patterson said there had been a "very little" discussion of coal, but Attorney General Tom Clark and Secretary of Navy Forrestal told reporters the subject had not come up.

Krug went to the White House 15 minutes before the cabinet session, it was learned, possibly to talk over the situation with President Truman.

Negotiations between the government and the miners were in recess until Monday at 10 a. m. Krug's office said he was advising Lewis today that he will attend the Monday session.

Mr. Truman was represented as having dismissed the subject briefly at the last cabinet session with the comment that Krug was handling it. The interior secretary, who made the contract with Lewis ending last spring's strike of miners, had just started his western tour when the move was called on Oct. 21 for reopening of the agreement. Krug has taken the stand that the pact cannot be reopened.

The cabinet session came as Lewis called in approximately 30 district presidents of his United Mine Workers' Union to tell them about his next move.

No inkling of Lewis' strategy, as outlined to his district chiefs, was permitted to leak out. Speculation arose, however, that a compromise might already have been worked out. This was based on the fact that the district presidents, who gathered in Washington late yesterday, would pass on any settlement plan.

There was also conjecture that the fear of restrictive labor legislation by the new Republican-controlled congress which meets January 3 might sway Lewis toward a quick settlement without resorting to the strike weapon.

Lewis is expected to meet Krug on Monday in their first face-to-face parley since the miners' boss exploded his new but unspecified wage demands October 21.

A week-end recess was called yesterday in the conferences between the Coal Mines Administration, which has been running the mines since government seizure of the pits during last spring's strike, and Lewis' negotiating committee.

The four-day layover permits Krug, who made the present working agreement with Lewis last May, to get back to Washington from California, and gives Lewis a breathing spell in which to crystallize his strategy.

What the next step will be was a closely-guarded secret. Unless Lewis agrees to extension of the government contract beyond November 20, a strike would be hard to avoid, because of (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Martin To Stay On Job Until Governor - Elect Is Sworn In

Harrisburg, Nov. 8.—(P)—Governor Martin says he intends to stay on the job as Pennsylvania's chief executive until Governor-elect James H. Duff takes office Jan. 21.

Martin, elected U. S. senator by more than 600,000 votes over Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, made the comment yesterday when asked if he will resign before Jan. 3 to be sworn in at Washington when the new Republican-dominated senate organizes.

Pointing out that his vote would not be needed to assure Republican control of the upper branch, Martin added he wanted to turn over the state government to Duff without confusion.

The governor at the same time vigorously opposed a suggestion by Sen. William Fulbright (D-Ark) that President Truman step aside after appointing a Republican secretary of state with the

"I see no reason why a Democratic president and a Republican congress cannot work out a program relating to American foreign and domestic affairs that will unite our people."

Of the Republican chances to capture the presidency in 1948, he said "if the Republican party uses good common sense and gets together on sound governmental proposals, we'll win in 1948. We cannot win by simply drifting along expecting the Democrats to make mistakes."

He noted he has now taken part in ten state-wide campaigns but replied quickly, "no, I'm through" when asked if there will be another.

"I was a bad guesser there," he said of the election results in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and several other Pennsylvania counties. He noted he had estimated the Republican majority at 302,000, just half

Brock To Show Movies of Big Game Hunting

The regular monthly meeting of the Warren Field and Stream Club will be held in the big court room in the court house, Thursday evening, November 14th, at 7:30, with a crackerjack attraction on the docket.

All are invited to enjoy the moving pictures of O. Carlyle Brock, a dairy owner and big game hunter of Erie, who will give the commentary along with the pictures. This will be without a doubt the finest program of the year, for the pictures will probably be of one of Mr. Brock's extended hunting trips to Alaska or northern Canada. At the meeting last year, at which Mr. Brock furnished the program, the court room was filled to the brim and close to two hundred had to be turned away.

The speaker is an amateur photographer and takes his own pictures of his trips, but his skill with the camera is equal to that of a professional.

At the last program given by Mr. Brock, he showed pictures of his Moose hunting trip in northern wilds of Canada where dog sleds were used. The program was an immense success and the officials are expecting a repeat on the size of the crowd at the coming meeting.

Outing Club Has No Cover Charge Tonite

Visitors to the Outing Club this evening will find that no admission charge is being received by the club management. This is due to the many counter attractions about the city and the club feels that every opportunity should be given the folks to drop in and enjoy the fine weekend show which has been arranged.

Headed by the King Sisters—who by the way might be dubbed Queens on their art—the show will be as the movie folks say "Terrific." The King Sisters are a pair of highly clever girls who sing and dance in a way that in the words of the late Billy Munn "just knocks 'em off the seats'."

And last, but not least, there is a dainty bit of femininity who presents a routine of character dancing. Marie is a real eye-ful and is as graceful as a gazelle. Her offerings on the bill rounds out some real entertainment for the club devotees that is tops.

Roseland for tonight and Saturday will also have some added attractions. Round and square dancing will be enjoyed and the music promises to be of the peppiest. The management of Roseland is mighty proud of their offerings for this weekend and a big crowd should be in attendance.

The Moose, Vets and Eagles will also have dances and down at Ben White's Town Barn the usual crowd will hold forth.

ADVERTISING PAYS

Paul Coe, he of the paint and turpentine, is a believer in the fact that advertising pays in the Times-Mirror Classified columns. Paul wanted a flat top desk and inserted an ad in the Times-Mirror. Feeling sure that a scarcity of flat top desks existed he bought the first desk that was offered to him. But the ropes to his ad continue to roll in from every part of the county and he is satisfied that there must be oodles of desks despite the planned scarcity of commodities.

ZEM ZEM FRUIT CAKES

Local Shrine members have an activity that should appeal to all local housewives in the announcement in an advertisement in the Times-Mirror that 400 Zem Zem fruit cakes, in casserole baking dishes with metal frames, are on sale at the Lewis Market. The sale is sponsored by the Oriental band of Zem Zem Temple in Erie, and there is no doubt the supply will soon be exhausted. The cakes make an ideal purchase for the Thanksgiving and Christmas season.

CHILD SAW A BEAR

Weldbank is becoming one of the beariest places in the county and almost every evening one or two of the ambling black fellows strolls into the village and sniffs around the bee hives and garbage dumps. This week one of the bruns was rambling about on the bridge across the Honesta creek just as Beverly Bowers, 7 years of age, was approaching the structure. She sighted the big fellow snuffing about. Breaking into screams and emitting some lusty threats she ran toward the Weldbank Service Station. Men ran to see what had frightened the child and saw the bear leisurely walking off the bridge and into the brush at the side of the road.

FRIDAY NIGHT

For Members and Their Ladies Only.

Robert E. Hughes, 710-pounder of Baylis, Ill., is an amply-proportioned gentleman. So out-sized are his trousers, in fact, that they can comfortably accommodate three normal-sized young ladies, as, left to right, Irene Kozielec, Judy McNamee, and Erna Ecker affably demonstrate.

To Raise Fund For Girl Scout Camp Project

Even though Warren County Girl Scouts do not have the idea that they are going to know all there is to know about nature, they are determined to learn what they can while enjoying the companionship of other Girl Scouts. To that end, their sessions at Camp Birdsall Edey are experiences eagerly looked forward to and planned ahead.

To make all this possible and to make their camping experience enjoyable, the Camp Building Committee is "on the job".

From this committee, a group with Arthur Southwell as chairman, has been appointed to raise money for the purpose of building a double fireplace, one side of which will heat the dining hall for early spring and late fall troop camping, and the other side be used for outdoor cooking and camp fire.

To finance this project, the committee are going to place on sale, pound and half-pound packages of salted mixed nuts. These will be handled by the troops, orders to be taken for Thanksgiving delivery. Order books are being placed in the hands of all Girl Scout leaders the first to next week, and soon after that time the Girl Scouts hope to find a ready sale for the nuts when they call at the homes in Warren and Warren county.

Moose Plan Big Event On November 20

Warren Lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose is planning for a big event on the evening of November 20th. On that occasion the annual Old Timers and Past Governors Night will be observed and in addition a big class of candidates will be initiated. Approximately 100 men will form the new class which will be taken into the order and following the business session refreshments will be served and a floor show presented.

Due to the size of the class and the other features planned only members of the lodge with paid up dues certificates will be admitted and from all indications the committees in charge will provide a real evening's fun.

The meeting will open at 8 o'clock promptly and all prospective members must report to the Moose business office prior to that hour. No applications will be received after Monday, November 18th.

Work on the redecorating of the Moose lodge hall is being rushed with all speed so that the work will be finished in time for the big evening of the organization.

TIME TO GET READY FOR WINTER

WHEN you take down your screens and put up storm windows... when you give your furnace a checking over to see if it's ready for use... then it's also time to get your water pipes ready for winter.

TAKE THESE PRECAUTIONS NOW:

- Wrap exposed water pipes with old newspapers, rags or burlap.
- Turn off and drain outside fixtures.
- Make your basement snug. Repair broken window panes. Stuff cracks in walls, around windows and doors which admit cold air.

These simple precautions will save future inconvenience and possible costly repairs resulting from frozen water pipes.

NO TIME FOR CHEERS OR TEARS

We all hope that the feelings of elation and bitterness aroused by the national election results will be temperate and brief.

For, as James Thrasher says in an editorial written for NEA Service and the Times-Mirror, "There is a job to be done that leaves little time for celebration or sulking. It is a job that requires a united effort which has been lacking in the past year, and which can be even more difficult of attainment in the next two years unless there is a great deal of responsible statesmanship shown on both sides."

In gaining control of the Congress, the Republicans have obviously won a large measure of responsibility along with their victory. The time has now come for GOP legislators to abandon opposition for opposition's sake and put aside generalities. They must justify the faith of their electors with a sensible, specific program calculated to bring about the change and betterment which the election results clearly demand.

The Democrats must bow to the will of the majority, which had kept them in control of Congress for 14 years. The era of Franklin D. Roosevelt, which brought the party unprecedented power and prestige, is at an end. The strong personality that held an assortment of mutually hostile political groups together under one leadership is gone. The party undoubtedly must regroup its ranks and assume, at least partially, the role of a responsible minority.

With a Democratic President and a Republican Congress there will be an even greater temptation than before to play a furious game of partisan politics with an eye on 1948. It is discouragingly easy to foresee what might happen—a running battle of vetoes and overriding votes between the White House and the 80th Congress.

Nothing, of course, could be less desirable. A division of partisan control in the government's legislative and executive branches is an intrinsically uneasy and unproductive arrangement. It will require the greatest responsibility and forbearance by all concerned if the country is to recover from the state of confusion and contradiction in which it went to the polls on Tuesday.

Our economic and industrial machine must be put in order, set on the track and started forward. Recurrent strikes and chronic dissension must be halted somehow. Government can't do the whole job, but at least it can show the way.

All the material necessities for progress and prosperity are at hand. What is lacking is the will to get together and use them. In the past year the bitter strife between management and labor has been reflected in government, and government quarrels have drifted down to widen further the breach between management and labor.

This cannot go on much longer. Domestic politicians and Republican politicians, company bosses and union bosses have got to realize that the protest vote of Nov. 5 was a protest vote against the paralyzing contention for which they all must accept a share of blame.

Mr. Truman and the 80th Congress face a difficult and discouraging task. They must contrive to attack it with the same bipartisan strength that is now being devoted to the equally difficult and discouraging task of foreign relations. To accomplish this will take all the good sense and political conscience that God has given them.

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

As outlined in Tuesday's issue the Warren schools have completed an interesting schedule of events in observance of National Education Week—November 10-16.

The public is cordially invited to these events and it is the hope of officials and the teaching staff that there will be widespread co-operation on the part of parents and all others interested in the school system of the borough.

More than ten million people are expected to visit the nation's schools during American Education Week, according to a prediction made by Willard E. Givens, executive secretary of the National Education Association, which sponsors the annual event in cooperation with the U. S. Office of Education, the American Legion, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Parents in Warren and thousands of other communities have been invited to visit schools to see their children in action, to meet the teachers and to look over school facilities.

This weekend you may read the ads and choose the kind of meat you desire for your Sunday dinner.

MACKENZIE'S Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

A Foreign Affairs Analyst

India is making imperishable history these days in her search for ways of implementing the independence which Britain has offered her, but one of the most striking developments is the spectacle of Hindu and Moslem leaders joining hands to plead with their peoples for cessation of the bloody communal disorders which have been sweeping Bengal and other parts of the country.

It would be hard to find enemies more bitter than the rank and file of the Moslems and the Hindus, who have been at each other's throats for centuries. Through long generations the feud was religious and racial, and when political consciousness arrived the great political parties unfortunately divided on those lines. Thus today the essence of the so-called political disorder is religious and racial—these two things being mainly synonymous in this case.

Tradition has had it that the Hindus and the Moslems never could be brought together. I first encountered this back in 1916 in India, and found the same belief still prevailing during a visit in 1942-3. Indeed so fierce was the hatred between the two religious groups that it took a lot of faith in human nature to challenge that tradition.

The British offer of dominion status in 1942 crashed on the rocks.

of the Hindu-Moslem controversy. And when early this year the new Socialist government of England offered India independence, the project was held up by the feud. The stalemate was broken only when the British resorted to the daringly arbitrary idea of establishing a provisional government and inviting both sides to come and run it.

Now we find the Hindu and Moslem leaders journeying together from New Delhi to Calcutta to make a joint appeal to communal rioters to cease strife, which has cost more than 5,000 lives and injured some 13,320 in various parts of the country since July 1. The two Hindu leaders are none other than the famous Pandit Nehru, head of the new provisional government and former president of the All India Congress (which is predominantly Hindu), and Sardar Patel, another congress chief. The others are Lohat Ali Kahn, secretary of the Moslem league, and Sardar Rab Nishtar, also a league official.

One swallow doesn't make a summer, and one incident of this sort doesn't solve India's problem but it is an encouraging demonstration of at least temporary solidarity. It should be enough to convince even the most skeptical that the Hindus and Moslems work together.

Y Volleyball League Starts Friday Night

The YMCA warm-up volleyball league is well under way with matches having been played Monday and Wednesday evenings, and another match scheduled for tonight at 5:15 o'clock.

In the first two matches the teams designated as "N. P." and "F. B." were victors, defeating the "M. C." and "Y. M." teams. The N. P.'s took two out of three games, while the F. B.'s walked off with all three games. With five teams in the league, playing three days each week, one team each week will play two matches. The N. P. aggregation will be the repeater this week, playing the O. K.'s tomorrow night.

The team rosters follow:

BY CHARLES TRACY

Aviation editor, Cleveland Press, former Army pilot
(Written for NEA Service)

(1) With the oceans and the continents reduced to insignificant size by huge passenger-carrying rockets which will completely change our present concept of time, man will seek new laurels in the air. A great era of special exploration lies ahead. The Army recently contacted the moon by means of radar. Rocket experts declare that with the development of better fuels it will be possible, at least theoretically, to construct a "step-rocket" which can reach the moon.

(2) The champions of the rocket cause, members of the United States Rocket Society, were ridiculed in the years before World War II and atomic power, but their views are respected now. At present the society has plans for a unique high-altitude "exploratory rocket" which, it is hoped, will ascend from 400 to 2000 miles into the heavens to bring back, safely, recordings of conditions above the gaseous envelope of air.

The "Moon Rocket" will be a monster, designed from data gathered in the high-altitude tests and including a return rocket which will be cradled within itself.

(3) The society has devoted a part of its studies to planning a landing technique for use on the supposedly airless moon. A landing technique must be developed which will leave the return rocket poised properly for the flight back to earth. The "step-rocket" in which the moon flight is planned consists of a series of rockets so joined that each propels the main unit a given distance, detaching itself after its fuel is spent.

In time to come the moon may well become the hub of inter-planetary exploration and communication. Scientists predict that earth's great gravity will always give the moon an edge, even over atom-powered space monsters. The moon, earth's satellite, is not so distant, however. It lies no farther away from us, despite its 240,000-mile challenge, than did the Americas from Columbus in 1492.

Melancholy Days

Asked to render an assist with today's column, our city editor came up with the following and invites all male readers to rally to his defense: That bird who wrote the ditty about the melancholy days are here sure knew of what he was writing. Those other guys who took a goosequill in hand to rave in purple ink about the wondrous hues of autumn were just plain nuts. For fall is the season when Friend Wife catches up with you every time you sink into your favorite chair, light up a stinkeroo and prepare to rest the weary frame. She can think up enough things to do to exhaust all the vim and vigor imparted by a ton of vitamins. With the gusto of a top sergeant she reminds you: Better get the chairs in off the front porch and into the furnace room, and I really think they should be sanded and painted before they are stored away; and, by the way, when you take the chairs in, better gather up that old porch rug and put it with the junk for the garbage man; and, incidentally, when it rained the other day I noticed the leaves had filled up the gutter and if it's not too much trouble you might put on your overalls and clean it out; and, honey, have you noticed all the neighbors have their leaves raked up in piles to be hauled away. And, gracious, the dust on the front porch is terrible. Wouldn't it be a good idea to get out the hose and wash it off? You can use that old broom to swish the water around. And I am expecting a package of bulbs from Michigan, so the bed had better be spaded up a little so I can set them out, or maybe you can do it, 'cause the briars on the shrubs scratch up my arms, and . . . (space denotes the passage of time, while she catches her second breath) Yes, Fall is a wonderful season, AND, if you get what I mean, you will agree that the melancholy fellow really knew his stuff.

Philomel Program Famous Artist Will Is Variation Of Have Display At Usual Procedure Club Bazaar

The Philomel Club departed from its usual program arrangement in the meeting held Wednesday afternoon at the Woman's Club in which Mrs. Robert Sandblade presented a group of instrumentalists representing percussion, strings and wind instruments.

The trio played three numbers, Trio in E flat major, Opus 10, (scherzo) by Schubert, which was performed in the light, playful manner of the scherzo movement; Bargiel Trio in F (andante sostenuto), which was truly exquisite and showed the artists' musicianship, grasp of style and subtle interpretative differentiation; the Sevillans, entitled from Don Cesar de Bazar, Massenet, which was beautifully played. Eleanora Sandblade, cellist, Pauline Whitmore, violinist, and Evelyn Wolstencroft, pianist, perfectly complement each other in an artistic performance which is a delight to the listener.

Elizabeth Dunham, flutist, played around the Order of Roses, Steinhilber, and Little Star by Ponce. The silvery tones which Miss Dunham produces from this difficult instrument, and her sweet manner, always please. Rachel Eaton played a beautiful accompaniment.

The group of marimba solos by Joyce Smedley was in sharp contrast. Her first number, the smoothly flowing Barcarolle of Offenbach, and the second, Tackakowski's brilliant and rhythmic Le Czarine, were played with expression and understanding. She graciously responded to the applause by repeating the Barcarolle. Richard Kerr accompanied the player.

After this interesting program, tea was served in the dining room, which was decorated in rust and gold button mums, with ivory tapers in black candlesticks. Mrs. H. F. Clawson and Mrs. Albert Rockwell poured. Hostesses were Mesdames Stevens, Ekey, Eaton, Flowers, Wilkins, Campbell, and the Misses Robertson and Blocher.

Kathryn Mae Jones Weds Elmer Herron In Church Wedding

The First Methodist church in Kane was the scene of a pretty fall wedding Saturday afternoon, October 26, when Miss Kathryn Mae Jones, formerly of Warren, daughter of Mrs. Henry Stroup, Kane, became the bride of Pfc. Elmer R. Herron, son of William D. Herron, of Ridgway. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. George H. Palmer at 3:30 o'clock before an altar decorated with fall flowers and candles.

Mrs. James McDade II played the traditional wedding music, and Mrs. Clarence Micean sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "Always," accompanied by Mrs. McDade.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her step-father, Henry Stroup, wore a gown of white nylon with fitted bodice, long sleeves which came to points over her wrists, and a long train. Her fingertip veil fell from a Juliet cap, and she carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and baby mums tied with white satin ribbon streamers. The bride's only jewelry was a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. Mrs. Harry Umpleby, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, and wore a pink satin gown, shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of pink roses and baby mums. Flower girl was little Patricia Jones, pretty in a blue silk dress and carrying a basket of mixed fall flowers.

William D. Herron, Jr., was his brother's best man, and ushers were Fred Umpleby and George Hunt. The bride's mother wore a blue suit and a corsage of red roses and baby mums. Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Later a party was held at the home of the bride's mother, Smithfield avenue, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to New York City. Upon their return, they will reside with the Stroups until November 11, when they will leave for Camp Dix, N. J., where Mr. Herron is stationed.

Twenty members and one guest attended the regular dinner-meeting of Warren Zonta Club, held last evening at the YWCA activities building. Table appointments were attractively carried out with gourds and candles in autumn shades.

Featuring the broadcast, members were told, in an address by Mrs. Bodil Begtrup, of Denmark, chairman of the UNO Commission on the Status of Women. Introduced by Zonta President Louise C. Grace, of Detroit, the address dealt with the autumn status of women in various countries of the world and their share in maintaining the peace. The program plans call for shortwaving to all parts of the world, in both English and Danish.

An invitation was received by the local group to attend a dinner-meeting to be held in Buffalo on November 21.

SALE FUR COATS

Anyone—yes, anyone—knows why we'd offer a real genuine down-to-earth reduction on fur coats now. When women might have been buying furs during September and October, instead they were hunting Crisco in a wash frock without even wearing a coat. So we haven't sold as many as we would like to, hence these big reductions.

Plans Rejuvenation of Sulphur Springs During Coming Years

John Cotta, Youngsville, has purchased the property consisting of 350 acres of which Allegheny Springs is a part. He has taken possession and is engaged in work which he hopes will eventually lead to the rejuvenation of the popular resort. He has installed a sawmill and is selective-cutting some of the pine trees the property which he will use for the construction of cottages and other buildings on his program. The structure is now under roof and it will be used as a confectionery and ice cream parlor in years to come. He also plans the erection of several new cottages and also leasing ground for the construction of cottages and camps. Allegheny Springs produces some of the most healthful water to be found at any spot in this country and for many years was the Mecca of those suffering from rheumatism, neuritis and arthritis. The hotel that formerly stood at Allegheny Springs each summer housed scores who came to drink and

Myers Urges Farm Supports Continuance

The idea that "the farmer has to remain a victim of circumstances over which he has absolutely no control" was termed "jungle economics" Tuesday afternoon by U. S. Senator Francis J. Myers in an address at the goals conference of the State Production and Marketing committee held in Gettysburg.

"There have been voices raised from time to time in almost hysterical attack on this idea," Myers declared, "but such things as crop insurance are no more or less revolutionary than the idea of life insurance or fire insurance or rain insurance."

Nor is the idea of planning future crops, of deciding what is most needed, what should be grown and how much, revolutionary, Myers declared. "In what are referred to as the good old days there was the fundamental belief that every year the farmer was required to risk his entire fortune, big or little on the gamble that the crops he specialized in would have a good market months after he had planted them. That was expected of the farmer. . . . Other businessmen had to take no such gambles."

During the war, Myers pointed out, "the gamble was taken out of farming to a great extent by the government price support program."

Yet this program was very similar to the program for industry, Myers added. "Growing food during war constituted a risk, if the war ended suddenly or sudden surpluses appeared, unless there was support, the farmer would face tremendous losses."

"For industry likewise the government provided certain guarantees. New facilities were permitted to be written off in taxes over a period of five years. Profits were guaranteed so that industry would not be stuck with gigantic productive capacity it could not use."

"Continuance of the program that lifted from the farmer's shoulders the spectre of surplus and guaranteed for another two years. But like any guarantee made by congress, it is a guarantee which can be repudiated by a future congress."

"But the farmers are not yet out of the woods. While the need is still present for large quantities of food there seem to be a host of signs that the extremely favorable farm prices of the present will not be supported by market conditions of the near future. Some of our export market is sure to be lost. Some of our domestic market will shrink in high prices if basic consumer needs continue. Thus the support program will become even more important than it is at present."

"In times of recession or slump the cry goes up for 'economy' and the economies affected as a result of such a cry are, unless carefully studied and worked out, often inclined to be irresponsible and arbitrary. I think it is safe to say that the farmer will not retain his guarantees of minimum well-being unless the rest of the people do too."

Yesterday Is Nowhere

By BEATRICE MUR

Chapter 11

When Franz entered the drawing room Stephanie smiled at him from the fire stool.

"You look beautiful tonight," she said with such sober sincerity that he deliberately laughed to hide the quick rush of tears. Conrad topped pulling at his knuckles to reveal her a searching glance. He thought, "Is she breaking, when Franz is gone I must take her away."

"But you look terrible in that mask Franz, take it off. We have a little time to memorize your face. Come, I'll untie it for you."

He sat beside her. "You've had ears to memorize my face."

"But it's only the last few days that make an impression." There was a catch in her voice as she effly untied the tapes. "That's better." Casually as she pushed the hair back from his forehead her action disturbed him. She could almost read the rushing confusion of his thought.

"I'll miss you when I'm gone," he mumbled awkwardly, missing on both. Even then he expected a pang of the loneliness that was in store for him, forced as he could be into the intimacies of Franz's life.

"You must try to forget about me," said Stephanie slowly. "We must become unreal."

"I'll miss you," he repeated.

"That will become unreal too, because as time goes by Niel can't live or dead will be more like Franz Steiner to you than you in America. If you're thinking on his life, gradually he'll be yours in our minds." If it came as a cruel thing to say, she had cooled herself to be cruel. A rangled sound broke from him and suddenly her hand trembled and all the color went from her face. With an angry exclamation she pushed her away from him.

"Have care Franz!" cried Conrad leaping to his feet.

"She said it deliberately to work on my nerves." His voice was harsh.

"Are you so egotistical," she said, "you can't believe your own emotions! He whipped the mask out of her fingers.

"Don't waste your famous imagination on me, Stephanie. I'll go up for the American. Too bad you can't tell him your morbid fancies, he'd be amused." He bowed with mocking gallantry. "You don't give your husband much credit for courage, my dear."

SHE stared after him, Conrad gripping her shoulders from behind.

"For a minute," she said brokenly, "he knew I was right. If he thinks of it enough perhaps."

"Let it be Stephanie," begged Conrad. "It will do no good. She turned in his arms and he was startled by the angry tears in her eyes. It crossed his mind for the first time that she might do something to frustrate Franz."

When Niel came down he headed straight for Stephanie and catching the sudden panic in her eyes he smiled directly into them the way one does with children.

"If my mother could see you in that dress she'd paint you."

"Oh, is she an artist?"

He laughed. "Only by courtesy and by fits and starts, but she's good at portraiture. . . . Dad taught her a lot."

"He was a wonderful painter." Then she stopped, shocked at what she'd unwittingly said.

"How did you know?" His eyes narrowed a little.

"I . . . I've seen some of his work."

"You have some good pictures in this room, mind if I take a look at them?" But the look on her face stopped him. "I wish you wouldn't look at me like that," he said quietly.

"Like what?"

"As if I was about to walk the plank. It makes me feel uncomfortable." Her eyes closed a little. "Surely you're mistaken."

He shook his head. "You looked that way when you first saw me. It shocked me then and it does now. It makes me feel there's something uncanny happening to me."

"I'm sorry." He saw that her hands were trembling. He turned his back a little more to the others to hide her face from them then he asked quickly.

"Why don't you want me to look at the pictures?" She turned so pale he thought she was going to faint but she bit into her lower lip.

"Because they . . . almost all of them were painted by your father." It was his turn to be rocked back on his heels. He thought, time is all I need, just a little more time and I'd know what it's all about.

"I'll get you a drink," she said and left him for a few minutes.

They touched glasses and drank.

"Why don't you help me, Stephanie?" he murmured unconsciously of having used her first name. As he watched her drain her glass a thrill of excitement rose in him.

"I don't know how without endangering Conrad."

"A note to Berlin would do it."

"I'll think about it." Out of the corner of his eye he saw Franz move toward them.

"Laugh," he said quietly, and she did so—instantaneously. With such gaiety it startled him and he felt sick with pity for her.

"Franz," she said, "you should hear about Mr. Dana's dog, an amazing creature."

"Really," said Steiner politely, "what breed?"

"Alsatian," answered Niel.

"Clever dogs, but too big for the city."

"He's at my mother's place in Albany."

"A good place for him."

Niel wondered what made Conrad chuckle. But Franz knew why and it annoyed him; Stephanie might have waited till they were alone to mention the dog instead of tossing it at him like a grenade. A net dog could cause him a lot of trouble.

The dinner bell rang, only once, but in Niel's head it rang again and again. He must get the knife at the beginning or the end of the meal. On the way he decided on the beginning Joseph was pouring ice water at Conrad's place as they entered. Conrad drew out Stephanie's chair then Joseph moved between Steiner and Niel as they sat down. He cast a flash-glance at Conrad pushing in Stephanie's chair and smiling down at her—now was the time! (To be continued)

Warren Pros Have Tough Game For This Weekend

Half of the basketball trying out is done for Coach Joe Massa of the Warren Dragons as 88 Freshmen and Sophomores started their tryouts for the squad Monday night. 3 Freshmen and 45 Sophomores showed their ability and sincerity in the tryouts and some good material was turned up.

Tonight, though, starts the tough job. All Seniors will go to the tryouts high after school for their tryouts with the Junior High school coach, Harry Hutchings. The juniors will show their stuff before Joe Massa in the high school gym.

Two lettermen will return to the old this season in hopes of pepping the squad to another championship year on the basketball floor. Gail Nelson who rose from a sub to a starting position in his Freshman year last season because of the graduation of Neil Simmons, one of the original big five, will be back to pep up the varsity along with his mate Ed Wollaston. Ed had an operation on his knee during the summer and rested it through the football season as a student manager so as to have it in shape for the cage season.

Coach Massa will have his squad practicing on the Beatty court after school every evening from November 11 to the 25th, when the first game will be held. After that the squad will work out every Monday and Friday after school, leaving the gym to Harry Hutchings' junior high squad on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays of each week. Coach Leidig will have the third squad, consisting of high school boys who have not made a spot of the twenty on the varsity, at work each night on the high school court.

Horse Doping Battle Gets To Governor

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 8.—(P)—The continuing fight between horsemen and the Maryland Racing Commission reached the state's executive mansion today with an open letter from two prominent stable owners to Governor Herbert R. O'Connor terming the commission's actions "disgraceful and outrageous."

The letter, signed by William L. Brann of Glade Valley Farm, Frederick, and Sylvester W. Labrot, Jr., of Hackett's Point Farm, Annapolis, demanded "an apology from responsible officials of the state."

Trainers for both horsemen were suspended by the racing commission a year ago on charges that horses trained by them were doped. The letter asserted that Brann's trainer, Edward A. Christmas, and Clay Sutphin, Labrot's trainer, as well as the owners themselves, had "suffered under the false charges and reckless accusations of your commission."

Race Horses Are Expensive

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 8.—(P)—With sales for two days already totalling $581,995, the annual standard bred horse sale closed today with a final batch of close to 200 going under the hammer at the farm show arena.

This year's sale has shattered all records in high bidding and attendance of bidders. Yesterday's auction crowd saw Egan Hanover, a brown colt consigned by the Hanover Shoe Farms, go for $21,000, highest price ever paid for a yearling colt.

All records for previous sales were broken when seven additional horses brought $5,000 or better during the second day's auction. That saw 202 horses change hands for a cash outlay of $397,860.

Followed Me, bred and consigned by the village farm at Langhorne, Bucks County, moved into the high-price class when he was knocked down to W. O. Wright of Federalburg, Md., for $10,000, second highest of the sale.

Negro Boxer Is Fatally Hurt

Highland Park, N. J., Nov. 8.—(P)—A 21-year-old New Brunswick negro fighter, who turned to boxing to help support his invalid mother, suffered fatal injuries last night in a four-round preliminary bout at Masonic Hall.

The boxer, Billy Brown, died shortly after being carried from the ring where he had been knocked into the ropes by Mickey Logan, of South Bound Brook, in the third round. Brown weighed 164½ lbs. It was the first fatality this year in a New Jersey ring and the 11th in the nation.

ARMY AND NOTRE DAME ARE READYING FOR 33D MEETING; CBS AT 1:30 FOR RADIO FANS

New York, Nov. 8.—(P)—The two foremost contenders for the mythical National College Championship honors pitched camp on the outskirts today while a horde of thrill-seekers descended on the big town for football's battle of the century between Army and Notre Dame.

With their respective adherents pouring in by the thousands to await the opening of Yankee Stadium's gates tomorrow, both teams were poised for their 33rd meeting after their final tough drills Wednesday.

By BOB GRUBB

How threatened rain would affect the outcome.

Whether Notre Dame's ace Johnny Lujack would be fully recovered from Wednesday's ankle injury.

Whether the absence of Army's Herschel Fuson would throw out of gear the Cadets' backfield precision.

In Army's psychologically, was the impetus of 25 victories stretching back to the beginning of the 1944 season. Notre Dame had the revenge motive as its psychological weapon—the urge to wipe out those 107 points Army ran up in whipping the Irish in the last two clashes.

Army's physical assets included a team of 60-minute players, eight of whom have operated together the better part of three years. Notre Dame boasted a big, able squad three deep at most positions.

In short, the Irish were counting on quantity in both line and backfield material, while Army banked on strength of one good unit.

SATURDAY FOOTBALL

Army vs. Notre Dame from New York-ABC 1:15, NBC 1:25 CBS 1:30, also to be televised to NBC to New York, Washington, Philadelphia and Schenectady. MBS 2:45—Northwestern vs. Indiana from Evanston, Ill.

The principals in this great grid drama were scheduled for light drills while the fans engaged in one last round of speculation, asking mainly:

ELKS

The Soda Mineral team, with Hoagvall leading the way with a 538, split the points with the Darling Jewelers. Check's 534 was best for the Jewelers.

Geracimos, with a 484 by Kyler leading the way, snatched the full court from the Warren Beverage team, which was paced by Thomas' 300.

GREENE-THOMAS

In the G. G. Greene-Thomas Coupling League at the Arcade Alley's last night, Greene Jrs. took three points from Thomas Engineers. E. Wilson had high single game of 192 for the Engineers while Samuelson and Rieder each had 415.

Inspectors took three from Greene Sr. Bill Rieder's 170 single game was high and Miller's 479 was the high total for the Inspectors. K. Nielson scored 153 for a high single and P. Valone hit 401 for high total for Greene Sr.

MARINES WILL LAND

Sunday the local members of the Marine Corps and Marine Veterans will be guests of the Red Jacket Football team management at the game with Masontown Pals. This promises to be a rugged game of the sort the Marines should go for in a big way. The occasion is the anniversary of the foundation of the U. S. Marine Corps, which falls on November 10. Cards of the Corps will be honored as tickets and the Marines will land at the game and have everything under control, pronto.

Masontown Pals Will Serve Strong Opposition for Red Jackets at Russell Field Sun.

Holding shoutout wins over the Pittsburgh Eagles, Carrick Odds, Sharon Pros, Sharpville Pros, as well as several lesser known elevens, the Masontown Pals will be an even bet to beat the Red Jackets in Sunday's game at Russell field.

Entered in the Honus Wagner league, the fastest circuit in the Pittsburgh section, the Masontown Pals finished second, runners-up to Stow-Rock Cadets, the champs coming through in a whirlwind finish to gain the crown, clipping the Masontown crew, 13 to 0.

Against the Sunny Boys, another tough outfit, the Pals were beaten, 15 to 0, for the only two losses suffered this year, while winning over the Eagles, 7 to 0; Carrick Odds 6 to 0, and Sharon, and Sharpville Pros, also via the shutout route, in addition to a few other wins over teams not as well known as the above mentioned clubs.

There are few college boys on the visitors' roster, as the majority evidently went into the steel mills or the mines after finishing school, and according to the best information available, it is a rugged group, and a club that will hold their own against any semi-pro aggregation.

A former Pittsburgh Steeler, Mike Kondria, who was with the National League entry in 1945, is down for right tackle on the Masontown starting lineup. He is also one of the few college players appearing against the Jackets, having been a regular at St. Vincent's college several years ago. He weighs 198.

The visitors starting lineup will show Tippen, Boyle, Vincinelli, Ellgw, Snyder, Kondria, Albani, from end to end, with Ungurean, Sakavec, Morbio, and Davis in the backfield. Davis is the lightest of the regulars, 160, with Tackle Boyle the heaviest, 215, among the starters.

As for the Red Jackets, Coach Ken Whistner knows his team will have to play football against Masontown, and for that reason, has worked his boys harder this week than at any other time this season.

He plans to start Warney Check at quarter, Frankie Funair and Bill Untereiner at the halves and Johnny Bivona at full, with the same line that started last week's game. On the defense he will again send in the "beef department", obriest and Brooker, pulling them on the offense.

Ben Hogan Is North, South Meet Champ

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 8.—(P)—Ben Hogan's feat of capturing the 45th Annual North and South Open Golf Tournament by two strokes with a 282 gave him his third victory in the time-honored event and boosted his total money winning this year to more than $40,000.

Hogan, the leading money winner for the year, captured the 72-hole tournament with a six-under par score over the country club's 6,879-yard layout to lead Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and Mike Turnesa of White Plains, N. Y., by two strokes. Hogan fired two sub-par rounds of 70 to pull into the lead after starting the final 36-holes yesterday in third place.

Fourth place went to Dutch Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., who wound up with 289, two strokes in front of Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich.

Dal Rees of London, one of two British pros entered in the event, tied with Stan Horne of Montreal for sixth place with a 292. Henry Ransom of Ravina, Ill., who had a hole-in-one Wednesday, was eighth with 293, one stroke ahead of Ellsworth Vines of Chicago. Joe Zarhardt of Norristown, Pa., was tenth with 295.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, was the low amateur with 301.

"Snippy" answers to customers? The "run-around"? The "let-'em-wait" attitude? Not at Personal Finance Company! My customers have declared me Innocent!

And they say I'm not guilty either of saying "No" to them when they ask for something. Proof: 4 out of 5 who ask for a loan here—get it!

"Personal" makes loans from $25 to $250 on signature alone, or on furniture or auto. Friends, relatives or employer not notified. Usually I say "Yes" to loan requests in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why "Personal" is so often able to make loans that others cannot.

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing . . . but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes." Any time you need extra cash—see me, won't you? I'm at Personal Finance Co. 216 Liberty street, second floor, over Lester Shoe Store. Phone 285.

Merchants' Holiday Program Given Attention at Meeting

Warren merchants who are anticipating one of the greatest rushes of Christmas business in history are laying plans for the holiday season. At a meeting of the Retail Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce held this week it was decided that the Christmas opening should be held Friday and Saturday, November 22 and 23, the week before Thanksgiving. The Christmas edition of the Times-Mirror will be published November 21 and it is expected to be one of the largest editions ever sent into Warren county homes.

It was also decided at the meeting that the retail stores in Warren would remain open evenings the full week before Christmas and on the night of December 23. As usual the stores will close at six o'clock on Christmas eve.

Plans were laid some time ago for the decorating of the business section for the Christmas season. Greens will be lavishly used along with colored lights, and it is planned to have strings of colored lights festooned over the streets, if the lights and wire can be secured. It is also hoped that the Penelec will have the 600-watt bulbs in the street lights in the business section in place. The lights now used are of 400 watt power.

Warren Vet Given Citation For Battle Duty on Hornet

Robert Ruffel, who is associated with his father in the conduct of the Market street Texaco Service Station, has been notified that he has been given a presidential citation which was presented to the unit on the U. S. Hornet in Pacific battle duty.

Chief Quartermaster Robert Ruffel is not entitled to wear the presidential unit citation with the bronze star. He will receive a facsimile of the citation.

The Hornet, one of the navy's most famous aircraft carriers was named after the vessel from which Lt. Col. James S. Doolittle launched the first bombing of Tokyo. It had 14 months of rugged action in the forefront of the drive back to the Japanese capital.

The following operations were listed in the citation: Palau, Molandia, Truk, Marianas, Yap, Philippines, Ryukyu, Formosa and the China Sea.

Ruffel re-enlisted for a six year hitch April 3rd. He is stationed currently at the Portsmouth navy yard. He enlisted in 1940 at the age of 18 and during the six year service saw action on the veteran battleship New York, which was assigned as a guinea pig to the atomic bomb tests at Bikini recently.

He wears eight battle stars on his Asiatic-Pacific ribbon and two on the Philippine Liberation ribbon. Other ribbons earned were the pre-Pearl Harbor with the star in duty before the war started, the American Theater, European, African, Good Conduct and Victory.

His father is conducting the service station while his son is serving the second enlistment, and his wife, the former Eleanor Mattison, of Kennedy, N. Y., is at the home of her parents there.

WNAE Transmitter, Antennae Arrive; Good Progress Made

Management of Radio Station WNAE breathed easier today as the transmitter and antennae have both arrived and have been unloaded from the cars and are now at the transmission station in Mead township. The transmitter is the heart of the station and is now being installed. Construction crews for the erection of the 250 foot antennae tower will arrive in Warren Monday and soon the big steel skyscraper will be stretching into the clouds. Right now it looks like a lot of scrap iron but within a short time it will rise majestically into the air.

Much work has been done at the transmitter station during the past fortnight and everything is fast becoming ship shape. Engineer Kimes has been moving carefully and there should be no hitch in development once the power is turned on and the station takes the air. Power lines have been connected to the station and everything is moving well.

At the studio in the First National Bank building acoustics experts have been at work for the past few days and they have just about completed their labors and pronounce the studios perfect in their sound control.

Programs are being outlined and today a contract was signed with the Mutual Broadcasting Company whereby the Warren station will carry the programs of that station. In this connection local folk are delighted with this affiliation as most of the big sporting events are carried by Mutual. However until a somewhat later date prize fights cannot be broadcast as the station will not operate in the evening hours.

Penelec Workers Enjoy Fine Dinner For Their Award

A program designed to keep Pennsylvania Electric Company personnel conscious of giving good customer service reached its first milestone this week when employees of two districts were honored at dinner meetings given in recognition of their placing highest or the first six-months period of the system-wide "Four Point Plan" Braford district placed first among the nine districts in Group 1 and Oil City was high among the seven districts in Group 2.

The Warren district is in the Group 1 classification.

D. W. Jardine, Penelec's president, presented the Group 1 trophy to the Braford district employees Wednesday evening at the Group 2 trophy to the Oil City employees Thursday evening. Officers of the company attended both dinners.

The Four Point Plan derives its name from the four points which govern the appraising of the districts—personal factors, customer satisfaction, appearance of property and favorable atmosphere. Each of the main points takes in several other factors such as courtesy, knowledge, cheerfulness, cleanliness etc. The program, inaugurated last March is expected to be continuous with results to be announced semi-annually. The trophies will remain in the possession of the high point districts Braford and Oil City until the end of the current six-months period at which time they will be preserved to the districts placing high at that time.

Brokenstraw Airport News

Now that Eleanor Day has passed and the various parties have been held, perhaps we can find a few of the latest happenings hereabouts.

Well to start the ball rolling we have two new Private Pilots Henry Sward and Henry Brooks. They have passed their final tests. The dual cross country hops to Clearfield, Altoona and Altoona made the trip solo.

The boys have been doing nicely in their navigation on these trips, none having been lost except although it is very easy to do so while flying over unfamiliar terrain. We must give credit to their Ground School Instructor, Dr. Harry Rhodes of Corry. He is one of the most proficient instructors in this section of the country.

Mr. Edmund states that he has graduated seventeen G. I. students to date, and five more are ready for their final exams. A new class will be started soon, so if any of you ex G. I.'s are air-minded just come in and sign up for this free instruction that our good old Uncle Sam is offering you. If you townsfolk should hear airplanes flying around some night don't be alarmed. With the advent of shorter flight times, it is now possible for night flyers to take care of the students who can't get around earlier in the day.

This Indian Summer weather we have had makes it nice flying and the students have been taking advantage of it.

As soon as the fog disperses in the early morning those little Cubs can be heard buzzing around overhead. But it won't be long until the condensation of winter will cover our field with snow. Then the fledglings may experience the thrill of landing an airplane without a single bounce. With this replacement of the wheels they can set in as light as a feather or the cushion of snow. Something to look forward to.

Night flying over a snow-covered countryside provides a pilot with a peculiar fascination which "day flying" shall never equal. The lights in farmhouses and villages pinpointing the darkness, roads a resembling winding white ribbons, the glow of cities, the crescent shadows on the earth, the wash of a bright moon glimmering on rivers and streams. It gives a sensation of being suspended in space.

Mr. and Mrs. Emma Hew to Braford recently to attend a meeting of G. I. Flight Training Operators. Since they have obtained their licenses they haven't had time for an automobile. The boys of their cross-country traveling by air. Nice work if you can get it.

The Warren town was flown to Braford for a check-up on her aging boys recently. When she went past the banger the Red Rocket hopped around dragging one wing, trying to get on after the Terror. George says that the Rocket will kick over the wall some day and take off. Even then she hears the fellow put on the Terror's engine and goes into a blind rage.

Henceforth our ground school will be held on Thursday evenings. There will be a three hour session on Thursday evenings. Well, doggonit—time to go again, but we promise to be with you again next week. Be seeing you—Rambler.

Consecration At Utica Very Imposing Religious Service

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Grace church in this city Tuesday became the Episcopal center of America for two hours when the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, D. D., S. T. D. L. D. Bishop of Virginia and presiding bishop of the Episcopal church officiated at the consecration of the Rev. Harold Everett Sawyer, pastor of the church, as Bishop of the 13-county Diocese of Erie, Pa.

A procession in which Bishop Tucker held the place of honor, including 14 bishops, 120 vested clergy and outstanding Episcopal laymen, started the ceremony and required 20 minutes to pass from the leaded entrance of the church to the altar.

Candles from the church canister sounded over the city during the colorful service.

When the scores of participants filed into the church, there began one of the most imposing religious pageants in the rock history.

Bishop Tucker led an procession of the Rt. Rev. Malcolm Encicotti, Peabody; Bishop of Central New York; and the Rt. Rev. John Chamberlain Ward retired Bishop of Erie.

The Rt. Rev. Wallace John Gardner, Bishop of New Jersey, presided at the consecration ceremony, admonishing the candidates of the four aspects of the episcopate.

1. The personal qualifications of the man to whom it is extended.
2. The increased responsibility he assumes.
3. The need for strength.
4. The duty of retaining the fundamentals of the church.

Bishop Tucker urged the new Bishop to "know, love and lead" the people of his diocese.

Presiding bishops include the Rt. Rev. Oliver James Hart Bishop of Pennsylvania, and the Rt. Rev. Richard Krennoff, Bishop of Indianapolis, Ind.

The Very Rev. Francis B. Blodgett, dean of the Cathedral of St. Paul, Erie, the new bishop's seat, read the litany.

Presbyters include the Rev. Harold S. Olafson, of St. Paul's church, Brooklyn, and the Rev. George E. Nichols, Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York City.

The Rt. Rev. Austin Tardue, Bishop of Pittsburgh, read the epistle, and the Rt. Rev. G. Ashton Oldham, Bishop of Albany read the Gospel.

The Rev. John Henry Fitzgerald, secretary of the House of Bishops, served as registrar, and masters of ceremonies were the Rev. S. T. Herstridge, of Elmira, the Very Rev. H. S. Kennedy, Albany, and the Rev. E. N. West, canon sacristan of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York.

The required testament for Bishop Sawyer was read by the Rev. Thomas L. Small, rector of Christ Church Old City and president of the standing committee of the Diocese of Erie, assisted by the Rev. Beecher H. M. Rutledge, Trinity Church, Warren, Pa., and the Rt. Rev. Bartel Reimhermer, Bishop of Rochester, N. Y.

Scores of choristers from New York, under direction of J. Lawrence Slater, former Grace church choir director, augmented the regular church choir, and Norman Coke-Jephcott, organist at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine New York, was at the console of the organ during the ritual.

Near the close of the ceremonies, the candidate bishop, vested in robes, was presented to Bishop Tucker, to whom he made his formal promises of conformity to doctrine, discipline and worship of the church after which he donned the other vestments of his office and while the "Veni Creator spiritus" was intoned, kneeled before the other bishops, who placed their hands on his head in blessing.

The Rev. George Herbert MacNish, of Cleveland, N. Y., who came during the ceremony, but was revived in the sacristy.

Bishop Sawyer is expected to leave soon for Erie, where he will be formally received as Bishop of the Erie Diocese in another elaborate ceremony.

BIG ERECTED

A heavy drilling outfit has been moved onto a location near Shady Nook on the Brokenstraw just above Pittsfield. A test well will be drilled there and operations are being watched with much interest by oilmen of the vicinity. The well, if a good one, would show a water stream that had been supposed by the old timers who watched the Murray Hill development with interest.

Suspect Is Picked Up By Police In Recent Robberies

Warren police last night picked up a suspect who may be the person who has been active in the garages and homes about the city. The fellow had been a neighbor, young town and the story he told the police was not satisfactory and he has been held for further questioning. Young in years the fellow is said to have served one term in reform school while there is no assurance that he is the party sought in the stealings about the city he is a likely suspect.

Police also investigated a slight accident on Pennsylvania avenue, west last evening when two cars driven by women tangled near the office of the Struthers Wells Company.

Ezra Jacobs is in again. Ezra has a habit of straying off the reservation at Complanter, filling up on firewater and generally raising whoopee when he comes to town. He has been here for some days past and last evening became entangled in the meshes of the law and he will undoubtedly return to his wigwam on the reservation after talking to Magistrate Greenlund.

By VICTOR EUBANK
New York, Nov. 8—(P)—Slow-motion recovery ruled in today's stock market with the rails pacing a selective advance.

Aside from a few fairly active flurries, dealings were quiet from the start. Offerings came in after midday and extreme gains of fractions to 2 or more points were reduced in most cases near the fourth hour. Assorted losers persisted.

Buying of the carriers again was attributed to recently bright income statements and expectations of a freight rate boost. A certain amount of bidding elsewhere was credited to the idea the list had been oversold in the post-election slump. Brokers suggested that the prospects for lower taxes under occupied Dairen, fighting bitterly to capture Chetoo and Shantung province, and approaching Antung on the Manchuria-Korean border.

There was a last minute effort to insure all party representation at the assembly and came after weeks of hopeless deadlock as the Communists refused to negotiate on the government's terms.

There was no immediate indication how long it would take Chiang's order to become effective on the farflung battlefields.

The truce order followed a prolonged meeting at noon of nationally assembled delegates. Chiang addressed them briefly.

The independent newspaper, Kshin Min Pao, said the truce was easily in accord with the government's desire for peace, not a result of any demands by any delegates.

General Marshall and U. S. Ambassador Stuart met with Chiang repeatedly the last two days, indicating to observers that they were putting the pressure on the generalissimo to come to a positive step to permit resumption of negotiations and to insure Communist participation in the assembly.

Washington, Nov. 8—(P)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson today recommended that speculative transactions in cotton futures be reduced sharply as a means of correcting the recent disorderly price situation in the cotton futures market.

Bedford Village, N. Y., Nov. 8—(P)—Police and postal authorities began an intensive search today for the person who mailed by parcel post the body of a new-born baby to a large Westchester county estate.

Wilkes-Barre, Nov. 8—(P)—The two-day strike of 400 DuPont borough high school students ended this morning when the entire student body filed into the building in line with a promise student committee had given the school board last night to end the walkout.

the short time in which to make a contract between the union and the mine owners.

One of the toughest obstacles to returning the mines—because the southern operators bitterly oppose that part of the government contract—is the question of unionizing mine supervisors.

THANKSGIVING DAY PROCLAMATION ISSUED

Harrisburg, Nov. 8—(P)—Governor Martin today proclaimed Nov. 28 as Thanksgiving Day in Pennsylvania.

Recalling that observance of Thanksgiving dates from 1621 when the Pilgrims at Plymouth set apart a day of thanks after harvest, the governor said in the proclamation.

"Let us be thankful for our heritage of freedom, won by the pioneers and preserved through the sacrifice of American lives in various wars, and for the faith that complemented the material advancement of the United States of America."

Slow-Motion Recoveries Rule In Stock Market Activities

By VICTOR EUBANK
New York, Nov. 8—(P)—Slow-motion recovery ruled in today's stock market with the rails pacing a selective advance.

Aside from a few fairly active flurries, dealings were quiet from the start. Offerings came in after midday and extreme gains of fractions to 2 or more points were reduced in most cases near the fourth hour. Assorted losers persisted.

Buying of the carriers again was attributed to recently bright income statements and expectations of a freight rate boost. A certain amount of bidding elsewhere was credited to the idea the list had been

Equipment
Is Arriving At
Sheffield Plant

Equipment for the new plant of the Para Manufacturing Company at Sheffield is arriving almost daily and indications are that the plant will be in operation in the near future. The new heating plant is being installed and the work of completing the alterations is also going forward in line shape. Hundreds of gallons of paint have been applied inside and outside of the big building and the change in appearance is remarkable.

General Manager Erick of the company is well pleased at the progress that has been made as there have been obstacles to be overcome in the securing of needed material but he has the local co-operation of the people of Sheffield. Labor has also been a problem but this has been fairly well solved up to the present time.

It is expected that rolls will be opened within a few weeks for plant employees and it is hoped to secure a large number with which to staff the machines and get the plant under way with all possible speed in production.

BROADWAY

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK—Eugene O'Neill's "The Iceman Cometh," established as the season's first solid new theater success, has been having equal success in the book field. The published version already has sold 25,000 copies, of which 23,000 were ordered before publication.

The average sale for the published version of a Broadway play is usually around 5,000 copies, the more popular selling as many as 3,000, the wild cases 2,000. In contrast, O'Neill's "Strange Interlude" sold 120,000 copies, and his "Mourning Becomes Electra," more than 80,000. In contrast, such recently published dramas as Irwin Shaw's "The Assassin" sold less than 2,000 despite some loud and strident noises which Shaw made at the critics who seat the ears off his play.

O'NEILL and George Bernard Shaw stand alone in their field, both considered far beyond any other dramatists and as a result their plays are used in drama and literature courses in most educational institutions. Random House, the publisher expects "The Iceman" to outsell "Strange Interlude."

Now that it has been launched so successfully, the Theater Guild is at work on the pre-production plans for O'Neill's next play, "A Moon for the Misbegotten." One of the secretaries at the publishing firm thought the title was "A Moon For Miss Begotten," and complained that she had not read a single reference to the lady mentioned in the title.

"It must be something like 'Harvey'" she concluded.

WHILE on this literary subject one of the most outspoken books on race relations is "Recall the Blues" by Mezz Mezzrow and Bernard Wolfe. It's the light, uninitiated story of Mezz, a white man, whose selective service card and cabaret performer's license and tall records list him as a Negro. Writing candidly about his early days and final regeneration, Mezzrow reveals why he now dedicates himself to the Negro race and Negro music with a highly unusual explanation of his musical beginnings.

"Music school?" Mezzrow asks. "Are you kidding? I learned to play sax in Federal reformatory. Got my public school training in three jails and a mess of cool rooms, went to college in a gang of tea pads earned my Ph.D. in more creep joints and speakeasies and dancehalls than the law allows. Pontiac was just a kindergarten to me. . . . Poppa gave me any idea how a man took to jazz in the early days? . . . listening to his cellmates moaning low behind the bars, digging the riffs the wheels were knocking out when he rode the rods—and then all of a sudden picked up a horn and began to tell the whole story in music?"

"I'm going to explain about that. And by the way, forget about no-man's-land between the races, ousting Jim Crow as we can, to get where he had to go. And you felt when he got there, I'll tell all about that, too especially that Listen hard, now. This is a story that happened in the U. S. of A."
